2023 Young Manager of the Year

Madison Marshall

MADISON MARSHALL FROM BURKE SHIRE COUNCIL WAS ANNOUNCED AS THE 2023 YOUNG MANAGER OF THE YEAR AT THE AWARDS FOR EXCELLENCE GALA.

In thanking her council, colleagues and community for their support, Madison appeared overwhelmed by the accolade.

Madison has been with Burke Shire Council since 2011, initially commencing her local government journey as a trainee. Her first roles were in administration functions, progressing to Executive Assistant before being promoted to Team Leader Community Services and Compliance; her progress due to her clear commitment and drive. Today, Madison holds the role of Manager for Corporate Services and Governance fulfilling an important role in council and supporting her community.

Working in a council with a land mass covering an area that is forty times larger than Brisbane City Council and with a somewhat dispersed population of 550 residents, is challenging at any time. Madison's commitment to community is evident in all parts of her life. She took the time to gain Commissioner of Declarations qualifications which has been invaluable to Council and community.

Madison has also been an active member of Burketown SES and Rural Fire Brigade, becoming a senior member and Secretary. She has played a pivotal role on the Disaster Management Team, including making substantial improvements to evacuation plans where her knowledge and understanding of the community and its needs allowed her to add significant value to the approach adopted.

Madison continues to excel in anything she attempts and remains ethical and professional, displaying a unique strength of character belied by her age.

Throughout her career, Madison has continued to be a supportive leader and a strong advocate for her staff and their development; ensuring they achieve relevant qualifications. Taking a page out of her own book she has also taken time to gain tertiary qualifications whilst working. In addition to this she has continued to take on new roles when the need arises, ensuring she continues to go above and beyond those roles and the needs of her team, excelling at every stage. Madison has always displayed an eagerness to learn and has a knack for questioning the status quo, this enables her to critically analyse practices and identify potential opportunities.

During the most recent flooding event that took place in the region, the most significant that the community had seen, Madison was able to apply her considerable interpersonal skills to lead the team and the community in a highly charged situation. Her quick thinking despite the rapid changing environment is a testament to her previous achievements, and her eagerness to always be learning and developing.

Madison continues to excel in anything she attempts and remains ethical and professional, displaying a unique strength of character belied by her age. This young manager of the year is also a genuinely kind and caring person.

As the 2023 Young Manager of the Year, Madison receives well-deserved recognition, her name alongside other talented local government officers on the perpetual trophy and $1,500 towards professional development.

CONGRATULATIONS, MADISON
